SURVEY RESULTS

How did you hear about the event?

How would you rate your level of satisfaction with the organization?

SURVEY RESULTS

Following one of our events, have any partnerships or potential partnerships been created?

● Yes ● No

100%

Agree that the services offered by the SCNATEA are still relevant to the socio-economic development of Abitibi-Témiscamingue, Eeyou Istchee and Northern Quebec.

What topics would you like the Secretariat to cover in future events?

- Qualifications for bidders in aboriginal territories (JBNQA art. 28.10-28.10.4, Act C-65.1 art. 14.4) and obligation for truly aboriginal content.
- Management and preservation of water resources.
- Sustainable forestry and green innovations.
- Recent success stories in construction, forestry, etc.
- Case studies of joint ventures with the Grand Council of the Crees (GNC).
- Creating links between companies looking to hire Indigenous Peoples and potential candidates.
- Real-life stories of successful Indigenous-Non-Indigenous partnerships.

What is your overall satisfaction level?

A few comments from participants

Highlights

1. Workshop & conference format was widely appreciated.
2. Julie Ann Cooper, the master of ceremonies, was praised as "the best" by many participants.
3. High-quality presentations, notably the panel featuring Michael Sabia, which was a standout moment.
4. Engaging topics, with appreciation for the diversity and depth of discussions.
5. Effective networking: Participants noted that the format promoted fruitful exchanges and connections.
6. Well-coordinated execution: The event benefited from excellent logistical organization and overall coordination.

Ares for improvement

1. Logistics: Adjust session start and end times to better align with regional flight schedules.
2. Accommodation & parking: Increase availability at the venue or recommend nearby alternatives.
3. Facilities: Consider a more suitable venue, such as a conference center, to improve conditions.
4. Catering: Diversify meal options, particularly side dishes.
